

ECE1 Class of 2012

English class

Books and workbook you need to use over the summer:

- Orwell, George, 1984.
- Grellet, Françoise, A Cultural Guide, Paris: Nathan, 2008.
- Nathan Vacances 2010 (3ème à la 2nde) for those of you with grammar issues.

Books you'll need for class:

- Sussel, Annie, Denis, Corinne, and Majou, Agathe. Le Vocabulaire de l'anglais. Paris : Hachette Supérieur, 2005.
- Persec, Sylvie. Grammaire raisonnée, volume 2 : classes préparatoires et Deug. Paris : Ophrys, 2000.
- Robert & Collins Senior - dictionnaire français-anglais / anglais-français.

NB : cheaper second-hand copies of all these books can be bought online from websites such as dicoland.com, amazon.fr, or gibertjoseph.com.

I also highly recommend that you use an English-only dictionary during the school-year (either British or American), and that you read and listen to as much English as you can over the holidays.

To do so, read books, watch films with English subtitles, check out the online international press as often as you can:

economist.com
theTimes.com
guardian.co.uk
FT.com

Time.com
Newsweek.com
usatoday.com
nytimes.com...

...and browse the web to listen to live radio broadcasts and news reports on “npr.org” or “BBC.co.uk”.

Have a great summer, and get some rest because the next school year will be tough,

Juliette Teillet
